THURSDAY MORNING, FEB. 18, 1875.

THE TWO TRAVELERS.

'Twas evening, and before my eyes
There lay a landscape gray and dim;
Fields faintly seen and twilight skies,
And clouds that hid the horizon's brim.

Dawn—or was it that I dreamed?—
A waking dream?—I cannot say—
For every shape as real seemed
As those that meet my eye to-day.

Through leafless shrubs the cold wind hissed;
The air was thick with falling snow;
And onward, through the frozen mist,
I saw a weary traveler go.

Driven o'er that landscape bare and bleak,
Before the whirling gusts of air,
The snow-flakes smote his withered cheek,
And gathered on his silver hair.

Yet on he fared through blinding snows,
And murmuring to himself he said:
"The night is near, the darkness grows,
And higher rise the drifts I tread."

Deep, deep, each autumn flower they hide
Each tuft of green they whelm from sight,
And they who journeyed by my side
Are lost in the surrounding night.

I loved them: oh, no words can tell
The love that to my friends I bore;
We parted with the sad farewell
Of those who part to meet no more.

And I, who face this bitter wind,
And o'er these snowy hillocks creep,
Must end my journey soon and find
A frosty couch, a frozen sleep."

And thus he spoke, a thrill of pain
Shot to my heart, and filled my eyes;
And when I looked them again
I started with a glad surprise.

Thus o'erlife still, and in the west,
A flush of glowing crimson lay,
I saw the morrow there, and b est
That promised a glorious day.

Two waters, in their glassy sleep,
Shone with the hues that tinged the sky;
And rugged cliff, and barren steep
Gleamed with a brightness from on high.

And one was there whose journey lay
Into the slowly gathering night,
With steady step he held his way
O'er shrowdy vale and piercing height.

I marked his form though weary tread,
The lifted eye and brow serene;
And saw no shade of doubt or dread
Pass o'er that traveler's placid mien.

And others came, their journey o'er,
And bade good night with words of cheer;
The morrow, they said, would be more
'Tis but the night that parts us here."

"Yet I," he said, "shall sleep ere long—
These fading gleams will soon be gone—
Shall sleep, to rise, refreshed and strong,
In the bright day that yet will dawn."

I heard; I watched him as he went,
A lessening form, until the light
Of evening from the firmament
Had passed, and he was lost to sight.

"SIMPLE ALICE."

The Chicago Tribune tells the following: The clerk of a prominent South Side jeweller wears arnica under his left eye; there is a handsome gold locket for sale at Lipman's below cost; the fashionable wedding which was to have taken place between a young lady on Ashland avenue and a young man on Peoria street, is off, and the jeweller's clerk has taken out a warrant against the young man on Peoria street, for assault and battery. This is how it happened:

The young man on Peoria street had arranged to give the young woman on Ashland avenue a gold locket for a New Year's gift. On consultation, his betrothed declined to have anything inscribed on the token but her Christian name. "You see," she said, "I expect to change my other name, duckey, before next year, and if anything were to happen like a death or a divorce, it would still suit me, you see. Just put simple 'Alice' on it, pretty." The young man from Peoria street went to the prominent jeweller and bought a $200 locket. "Want any inscription on it?" said the clerk. "Yes; I want simple 'Alice,' cut on in very, plain, deep letters." "Want what?" "Want it inscribed simple 'Alice?'" "Simple Alice" taunted the clerk, who said subsequently that he couldn't believe his ears. "Yes, simple 'Alice,'" replied the young man from Peoria street. "All right, sir," said the clerk, adding sotto voce, "simple idiot."

On New Year's Eve the young man from Peoria street got the locket, in a neat casket, and at once forwarded it to the young lady on Ashland avenue. On New Year's Day he called at her residence, and was astonished to discover that the young lady was not at home. As he was, in thunder-struck amazement, standing on the rug, the colored coachman approached him and handed him a package, with the remark, "Now, then, young feller, yo' clah out of yuah!" and as the young fellow slowly went down the steps, he beheld the young lady in the bay-window, leaning on the arm of his hate, laughing heartily and pointing the finger of scorn at him. On opening the parcel, the young man from Peoria street found in it his letters and a casket, wherein was a $200 locket, whereon was cut in plain, deep letters, "Simple Alice."

And that is how the clerk of a South Side jeweller wears arnica under his left eye. There is a handsome locket for sale at Lipman's below cost, the fashionable wedding which was to have taken place between a young lady on Ashland avenue and a young man on Peoria street, is off, and the jeweller's clerk has taken out a warrant for assault and battery against the young man on Peoria street.

EUROPE BRISTLING WITH BAYONETS.—The military contributor of the Cologne Gazette compares the present strength of the German army with that of the armies of other leading European Powers. At the beginning of 1875 the German army consisted of 31,830 officers, 1,329,800 men, 314,970 horses, 2,700 field guns and 820 siege guns. Of these, the number of troops available for service in the field within six weeks after mobilization is (excluding the transport and staff corps) 710,130 men, with 114,850 horses and 2,082 field guns. These figures do not include the fourth battalions, 3,400 officers and 152,100 men, formed in case of war, or the landsturm to be raised under the new law, which would bring into the field a force, by the lowest computation, of 3,718 officers and 202,500 men. The total force at the disposal of Germany, is, therefore, 38,948 officers and 1,084,200 men, excluding surgeons and the hospital corps, and not taking into account the probability that the estimated force of the landsturm will be greatly exceeded when in the field. The strength of the Russian army, including the Don Cossacks, but excluding Caucasus and Asiatic troops, is 767,876 men, of whom 761,000 are available for field service; the French army 1,098,400 men, of whom 855,700 are available for the field; the Austrian 805,000, including 502,750 field troops and reserves; the Italian 741,700, including 379,000 field troops and reserves; and the English (excluding militia, but excluding volunteers,) 280,240, of whom 93,800 are the highest numbers available for the field without fresh enlistments. From these figures Germany is the first military power in Europe. The organization of the territorial army in France may ultimately increase the French army by from 480,000 to 520,000 men; but then Germany will have 100,000 more soldiers than France, and by putting forth all her strength she might obtain 200,000, or 300,000 more. It is also to be considered that even if the German army were raised to 1,800,000 men, it would consist almost entirely of well-trained soldiers, which in France can only be the case, as regards the territorial reserve, in some twenty-five years' time.

AN EVENT OF RARE OCCURRENCE.—President Grant gains one more day in office than the American elector bargained for. The 4th of March, 1877, will come on Sunday, and by statute, the inauguration of the President elect does not take place until the next day. Twice in the history of the Republic this has occurred—in 1821, at the second inauguration of James Monroe, and in 1849, when Zachary Taylor was installed.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, February 17, 1875.

Gold in New York, 115¼.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying, 87½; selling 88½.

Legal tenders in San Francisco, 87½ buying, 88½ selling.

Sight exchange on San Francisco, coin ½ pc discount; currency ½ of 1 per cent. prem.

Sight exchange on New York, coin ¾ of 1 per cent. prem., and currency ½ of one per cent.

Price of Sterling exchange in New York, $4 84@4 88.

Gold bars, 725@750.

The Liverpool wheat market was still reported declining at last advices. Average California cargoes for prompt shipment were quoted at 9s 1½d per cental. California average, ex warehouse, 9s 2d@9s 6d, and 9s 6d@10s per cental for club. Oregon not quoted but commands highest rates.

As indicated in our quotations the New York gold market has advanced above any figure reached before for a year and a half. The immense sums going to Europe weekly is supposed to be the principal cause of the rise, and some of our leading exchanges from the money centers at the East predict that the draft likely to go on for some time will, before summer, bring the price up to 120. The New York Times commercial article of Feb. 5th notes the great gain in specie made by the Bank of France and says it shows that bullion has been flowing from London to Paris on account of the French loan. During week before last, the Bank of England lost in bullion for the week £1,236,000, which enlarged the proportion of reserve to liabilities to 49¾ per cent, against 50 per cent the week before, and on the 4th inst. there were further withdrawals of £408,000 sterling. Notwithstanding these important changes the Bank of England directors did not alter the rate of discount at their last weekly court, while the market for Consols and American securities was comparatively strong. If the outflow of bullion from the Bank of England was likely to create any serious disturbance of the English finances the conservative Bank of England managers would, no doubt, before this have taken vigorous steps to check the same. From all indications it does not seem probable that the balance of trade will be so much in our favor this year as last, and as that is one of the standards by which the money market may be pretty safely predicted, the future would seem to be fraught with more stringency in financial matters than the year just gone. The more conservative, and therefore the safer policy, of doing business, upon which the panic of 1873 taught men to work, will, however, not be forgotten in 1875, and the wholesome but hardly learned lessons of that hour will be a conserving element in our commercial interests for years to come.

In local circles monetary affairs manifest but little activity and no material fluctuation. There is some demand for loans, and when accompanied by good collateral, it is met on the usual terms. Prime commercial paper is readily discounted at regular rates and is received with favor. Grain dealers are making comparatively few calls on the local market, except on their demand deposits.

In the line of general trade there is the usual amount of activity and some orders of considerable importance are being filled, so that the volume of business for the month, in the aggregate, will be quite up to and perhaps above an average February, though it hardly promises to make up for the total inactivity which prevailed during the most of January. The merchants in the interior are making remittances very promptly in some instances, but still there is some complaint in this respect, as the wholesale houses here are now at a point where the means to lay in spring stocks is very essential. The range of prices for imported goods is not changed in any leading line. Dry goods are in moderate supply at low figures, boots and shoes steady and groceries firm with an upward tendency in some leading articles.

The Wheat Market.

The demoralization noticed heretofore for some weeks is still felt, and some who handled the cereal pretty heavily early in the season, have been almost entirely out of the market as far as making purchases are concerned, as they cannot see any margin on more than $1 35 per cental, with the foreign markets down to present figures and no probable combinations whereon to "base the least hope of an advance." There are, however, others who are ready buyers at $1 27½ for sound lots of a good grade of shipping wheat, and no lesser figure sale of 2,000 bushels to-day at the last named figure, while small lots do not find buyers readily at that price. Holders, however, are backward just at present and demand $1 30@1 45. We hear of sale lot of 5,000 bushels offered on the boat at Albany at 76 cents per bushel and no taker. The vessels here and at Astoria are rapidly filling up; the Muriel, Willy Rickmers and Windward will get off on Friday or Saturday; the entire cargoes of the Troop and Parsee have gone forward to Astoria. The Euterpe is the same place, is nearly finished, and the cargo of the Conflict is being sent down quite rapidly. The bark Spirit of the Dawn, which reached her berth this morning, has commenced to discharge ballast and will begin to load on Friday. Thus it will be seen that without further arrivals next week will find the river almost bare of grain vessels to load, unless charters are effected for the Sussex, Caratea, Wetterhorn or Midas, all of which, we believe, are on the market, but exporters seem slow to take them up.

We notice that the commercial writer for our morning contemporary estimates that "45,000 tons are in sight in this valley," but some good judges deem the figures much too high, and we hardly think that after the vessels now in this port and at Astoria have loaded there will be more than 20,000 tons in sight in this valley. In this there are probably 5,000 tons or more that may be counted as sure to be held over until next harvest, unless a very material advance should occur prior to that time. There are perhaps 10,000 tons not in this valley which must pass through this port if shipped at all, and fully one half of this will be marketed without the rise spoken of. Hence we have in round numbers, as the probable exports to be made this season yet, not to exceed 20,000 tons, and we will be surprised, should the cargoes to be loaded reach 25,000 tons after the vessels now in port and loading have sailed. That the tonnage reported on the way here will be more than ample to carry all the surplus there can be no doubt, and any scarcity of ships will be owing to failure to arrive on time.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Ajax will sail for San Francisco at 10 A. M. to-morrow, with a full freight.

The Gussie Telfair will not sail for Sitka until Thursday of next week.

The British bark Spirit of the Dawn, Capt. Dixon, 90 days from Buenos Ayres, consigned to Henry Hewett & Co., reached her berth this morning, and has begun to discharge ballast. She will load flour for Europe, carrying about 11,000 barrels.

The bark Rival, with a full cargo of Oregon products, will sail for San Francisco the latter part of this week.

The schooner Dreadnought has her cargo on board and will go down the river to-morrow.

The Windward is receiving and the Midas is discharging at Pacific wharf.

The steamship Orizaba is announced to sail from San Francisco for Portland on the 19th inst.

The bark Mallie Maclear is on the berth for Honolulu. Her owners, Messrs. Corbett & Macleay, will give her quick dispatch.

The barkentine Jane A. Falkinburg, dispatched by Messrs. Allen & Lewis, went down the river to-day to complete her cargo at some point below.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—Sailed—Br. ship Montgomery Castle, Liverpool; schooner G. S. Fowler, Kodiak.

San Francisco Markets.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—Flour—Superfine, $3 75@4 50; extra, $4 50@5, shipping, $3@3 25, jobbing. Wheat—Shipping, $1 30@1 32½; good to choice milling, $1 36@1 40. Barley—Feed, $1 40@1 50; brewing, $1 60@1 65. Oats—Oregon, $1 80; extremes feed, $1 65@1 85. Potatoes—Best, $1 85. Onions—Stockton, $1 12½@1 40; Union City, $1 50@1 55. Honey—Strained, 6@10c; comb, 10@15c; dark, 5@8c. Beeswax—Light, 27½c.

Ripe Fruit—Apples, 60@75c; cooking, $1 50@2; choice Pears, $1 50@2; S. B. Lemons, $10@12; Cal. Lemons, $15@20; Cal. Oranges, $12@30; Bananas, $3@3 50; Pine Apples, $7@8; Cranberries, $18@21. Feed—Bran, $14@15, middlings, $20@22 50; cake meal, $30; hay, $10@17.

Dairy products—Best fresh roll butter, 40c; other grades, 5@37½c; new Cal. cheese, 15@16c, western cheese, 15@16c; N. Y. State factory, 19@20c; pineapple, 18. Eggs, Cal. fresh laid, 30@37½c.

Poultry—Turkeys, $15 for live, $18@18 for dressed; hens and large roosters, $6@7; small chickens, $6; ducks, $7@8; geese, $12@15.

Provisions—Cal. bacon, jobbing, 13½ to 15c; Cal. hams, 13@14c; Eastern hams, 14@16½; shoulders, 8@9½c; smoked beef, 9½; Cal. beef tongues, 30c; lards, 14@17c; California and Eastern, according to the brand and package.

Wool—Average clean grades medium staple, 16@17c; long staple, 19@20c.

Hides—Cal. dry, usual selection, 16½@19½c; salted, 8½c.

Tallow—Common to good average grades, beef, 6¼@7½c.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—In this staple product there is at present the least amount of speculation known in this market for some time. Up to and during the time of the freeze exporters were buying quite largely, and stocks in the mean time accumulated, so that there was scarcely storage room. These stocks are being rapidly depleted by the vessels here and at Astoria loading for Europe and San Francisco. When these vessels are loaded there will not be much of a surplus in this market, though shippers still have some very considerable lots awaiting transportation from the interior. There are now comparatively but few purchases being made, though all good wheat offering at $1 37½ @ cental is taken by two or three exporters, while others refuse to quote higher than $1 35.

FLOUR—The receipts from several of our State mills are large, and heavy invoices are going forward to the vessels at Astoria, to Puget Sound ports and to San Francisco. Prices have varied but little for weeks, the quotations for jobbing range being at $4 50@5 per barrel for standard extras, $4 25@4 50 for good outside brands, and $3 50@3 75 for superfine.

OATS—There is an apparent tendency toward a decline, owing to the report of full supplies in the San Francisco market, and slightly increased receipts here. We quote good bright to choice lots, in sacks, at $1 80@2 per bushel.

BARLEY—There are but few transactions to note or to fix prices. Quotations include common feed to choice brewing and are furnished at $1 30@1 45, the latter only for the best.

SEED—Trade is not reported active, and prices are still furnished at $2 25@2 50 per ton for middlings, bran $13@14, chop $25@27 50, shorts $20, all cake $45.

HAY—No change in prices since last week. The supply is full for the current demand; good timothy quotable at $12@12 50 per ton.

POTATOES—The receipts are larger than last week and prices are still down. Jobbing rate for good qualities 1½c P lb, without sacks.

ONIONS—No transactions; nominally quotable at $1 62½@1 00 lb.

LARD—We quote a good article in kegs at 12@12½c P lb; this in tins, 12½@13c.

BUTTER—A choice article in demand for the local trade and commands 35@36c P lb, but it must be fine to bring it. Common to prime, 30@35c; solid, 25½@30c; inferior, 22@25c.

EGGS—The receipts are insufficient to supply the home trade, and some have been sold to-day at 30c, per dozen, but shippers are not buying, the local consumption taking that offer.

APPLES, RIPE—There are now but few choice varieties in the market, which are quotable at 75c@$1 25 P box.

APPLES, DRIED—The demand is dull at 4½@5c P lb in sacks, and 5@6c in kegs.

BACON—In common with some other products, this commodity is easing, being a slightly down ward tendency, sides being now quotable at 11@12c P lb, shoulders 8@9c, hams 13@15c. The supply is very full.

CHICKENS—For a few days past there has been a good demand for fair to choice lots, and such are quotable at $6@4 50 P dozen. The receipts to-day are above the average for the week.

DRESSED HOGS—The demand is still fair at prices not changed since our last reports.

BEEF CATTLE—There is a stronger feeling on the part of holders on the ground of supposed losses in Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory. But few transactions noted—mostly at 4 cents P lb net on foot.

MUTTON SHEEP—There are very few lots offering, and choice are worth $3 25@3 75 per head, and some at the extreme of $4.

HIDES AND FURS—A duller demand for shipping purposes prevails and supplies are light. We quote for choice dry, 16½c P lb; green salted, 7c; green, 6½c; culls, 10@12c; elk, 22c P lb; deer, 18@ 20c P lb dried, and 50@75c apiece green; mink skins each, $1@1 25; otter, $2@3; beaver, 75c@$1.

WOOL—In this staple there are comparatively few transactions to note. Prices are unchanged, ranging from 25@30c for good to choice.

General Merchandise.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS—Trade is quiet and prices for seasonable goods firm at current quotations. Mitchell Wagons, $120@145; Rising & Co.'s Patent shingle skein, $120 to $160; Pacific do, $120@130; Seasonable Goods are in full supply.

BAGS AND BAGGING—Burlap, standard, 12½@ 13c; Flour, grade 2, 9½@10c; Wheat, 10½@11c; Grain, 10½ oz, 22x36; 14@16c; Oat, 23x40, 14@15c; 28x36, 16@16c; Flax Seed, 21x39, 15c; Wool, 3½ lbs, 40x30, 60@65; Burlaps, 40-inch 10, 10½, 11, 11½ and 12 oz, 26@32c; Seaming Twine, 3 ply, 8oz, 60@65c; Hemp, 5 ply, flax and jute, 40@42½; 4-4 Dutch Carpeting and Matting, 25c; Table Badges, 10-yard lengths, wood and bronze patterns, 36 per piece.

BOOTS AND SHOES—Under our head embrace full assortment; trade light, yet an active call for the favorite brands, like the Cordova kip and the genuine Webfoot brand for ladies', misses' and Children's wear. In the Indian Boots take the lead. We quote Webfoot 2-sole kip boots, $53@54; Granger 2-sole kip boots, $43@48; Mohawk Standing boots, $37 50@39; Calf Dress boots, do 2-sole, $57@60; Boys' kip Congress boots, $32@35; Boys' Split do, $28; Indian do, $34@37; Knee, $48@51. CITY ADVERTISEMENTS.

Ordinance No. 1697.

AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE TIME and manner of improving the East half of Front street between Morrison and Salmon streets.

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. The proposed improvement of that part of the East half of Front street lying between the centers of Morrison and Salmon streets shall be completed as hereinafter provided on or before the first day of March, 1875.

Section 2. That portion of the street on which the sidewalk is to be laid shall be cleared of plank or other obstructions (sidewalks of the proper width and grade excepted,) of the obstructions are not removed by the owners of the adjacent property within three days after notice, they shall be removed by and become the property of the contractor.

Section 3. The improvement shall consist of laying sidewalks twelve feet in width, with suitable foundations according to a plan on file in the Auditor's office, and of constructing sidewalks on the East side of Front street.

Section 4. The work to be done and materials furnished, shall correspond with the provisions of and with the restrictions contained in sections 7, 11 and 12 of Ordinance No. 793, entitled "an Ordinance in relation to the improvement of streets."

Section 5. The contractor shall take entire charge of the work during its progress, and shall be responsible for any loss or accident resulting from carelessness or neglect.

Section 6. That Committee on Streets and Public Property are hereby authorized to advertise for, receive proposals and enter into contract with the lowest responsible bidder or bidders for the improvement specified in this Ordinance.

Section 7. The improvement shall be completed to the satisfaction of the Committee on Streets and Public Property and the Superintendent of Streets.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 30, 1875.

RATHER TOO THIN.

No intelligent person believes that Grant's Third Term letter was intended as an unqualified disavowal of any intention to be a candidate for re-election, and there are few who do not believe the Indianapolis Journal, Senator Morton's paper, was right, when it pronounced the letter "a politician's bid for the nomination." So far from commending the example of Washington, who declined to be a candidate after he had held the office two terms giving as a reason therefor that it would not be safe for the country to establish such a precedent, Grant took occasion to present some views to the contrary, and especially to deprecate that public sentiment which stood in the way of a man's seeking re-election to the Presidency as many times as the written constitution of the Republic would permit. Then when he came to the application of his doctrine to his own case, he said he did not desire the third term any more than he had desired the first and second. He wanted the first and second badly enough to accept them, and to say he wanted the third no worse was to say nothing that indicated in the slightest degree any unwillingness to enter the contest for the nomination if he should see the way open to success in the convention and in the popular election. Calling to mind the peculiar circumstances and phraseology of that letter, one finds it difficult to decide whether the following resolution, adopted by the Minnesota Republican Convention yesterday, is intended seriously, or as a piece of very broad sarcasm at the President's expense. Says the convention:

That the example of Washington in refusing to be a candidate for a third Presidential term, and the affirmation by President Grant of that principle, is one we sacredly cherish and we should regard a departure from it as a dangerous innovation.

Of course this whole document taken together, admits of but one interpretation, so far as the third term question is concerned, and that is that the Republicans of Minnesota will none of it. But if Grant has imitated that sacredly cherished example of Washington and declined to be considered in the field for a third time, why say anything about it? Or at most, why go farther than merely to commend the unselfish patriotism of the President, who, as the head of the Republican party, might be entitled to that compliment? Wherefore proceed to declare that any attempt to run a man for the third term, would be a "dangerous innovation," if the only man in the world who is in a condition to be a possible candidate for a third term has magnanimously stepped out of the way? If Grant is not going to run for a third term, who is? And if nobody is, why need the convention have declared such a thing would be a "dangerous innovation?" It has never been done before, and unless there is some possibility of the third term innovation being attempted now, there is no occasion to denounce it as dangerous.

The fact is, this last clause in the resolution of the Minnesota Republicans touching the third term matter, betrays the uncertainty they feel as to the purposes of Grant, and is an implied admission that, notwithstanding the fine talk about Grant's disavowal of all such intentions, his letter will bear the opposite construction, and will be regarded by the people at large as a bid for the office. To ward off the effect of that construction on the election this strong declaration of opposition to the third term, which makes the praise of Grant in the preceding clause absurd and ridiculous, was inserted. If the clause about Grant's renunciation of the Presidency is not, as we half suspect, intended wholly in a Pickwickian sense, it is just about the most transparent sham that we have seen. If Minnesota people can be hoodwinked with a device as thin as that they are good subjects for the politicians.

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT.

The other day we published the figures showing that the United States government, as at present conducted, is the most expensive, population considered, of all the great nations of the earth. Some persons have expressed surprise on reading those figures. We, too, were surprised when the facts first came under our observation. But they are facts, nevertheless, and no one who understands himself will offer to gainsay them. But there is another aspect of the case, which no doubt has been overlooked by most readers, and which places the United States government still more at disadvantage in the comparison. In the European monarchies, the general government takes every interest of society in hand. The government is single. There is one treasury from which all public charges are paid. Under our dual system of government, the States exercise the greater part of the functions of government. The expense of the State governments is therefore to be added to that of general government in order to make a true comparison of the cost of government here and abroad. These State governments cost as much in the aggregate as the general government. So the already enormous cost of our government, as represented in the figures from the United States treasury, is in reality no more than half the cost of government.

Is there any reason in the nature of our institutions, in the hearts and temper of our people, why our government should be so enormously expensive? Certainly there is not. We ought to have the cheapest government in the world. These enormous expenditures can be reduced, and they ought to be. The offices should cease to be sinecures, and the public buildings should cease to be hospitals for the care of overworked politicians. The army of officers and deputies and go-betweens should be reduced to a peace footing. Less than half the force now employed could do the work, and should do it. And the ten thousand contracts and commissions and other bungholes of the treasury, should be stopped. This is possible, and the people should see to it that it is done.

Hon. Ben Simpson has been appointed by Secretary Delano to negotiate treaties with the Indians on the Alsea reservation.

MOODY AND SANKEY AT VERSAILLES.

A London dispatch says Moody and Sankey, the great American revivalists, are at Versailles. From what we have read of the style of these distinguished individuals, we venture to say their preaching, in the kind of French they will have at command, will not have the effect it has when delivered in the homely western English they speak. Perhaps the question is now to be presented, whether the fire and power of the revival style can be translated. We should imagine there would be no very great excitement created in the audience by having Mr. Moody pronounce one of his stirring sermons, a sentence at a time, and wait after each sentence for the French interpretation to be delivered to his audience. And when Mr. Sankey sings, with an unction that carries the multitude along with him, one of those tender and touching hymns which even in their original form will not bear criticism, what will be the effect of it by the time it is filtered through a Frenchman's brain, and let fly at the congregation, say in the Parisian opera style?

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

There is little to be said of the proceedings of the Democratic convention, as the main object, the nomination of a candidate for Congress, is still unaccomplished after several ballots. It appears to lie between ex-Governor Whiteaker and Lafayette Lane, Esq., but there is something about the ballots that we outsiders cannot readily understand. There is a large number of persons voting blank, a number so constant as to suggest preconcert. We should not be very much surprised if the contest should end in the withdrawal of all the other candidates, and the nomination of ex-Senator Nesmith, who receives votes on every ballot, notwithstanding the withdrawal of his name before the first ballot was taken.

The platform, we should judge from the synopsis telegraphed, is intended rather as a device to catch votes than as a declaration of Democratic principles. However, it would be unjust to criticise it till we see the entire document.

The New York Herald of July 15th has two full pages and a column and a half more devoted to the college regatta at Saratoga. It may be that somebody will read it all.

The Washington Chronicle devotes nearly two columns to an argument to prove that Professor Marsh's charges of corruption against the Red Cloud Indian agent are false. If there is no ground for the charges, it is a little strange so much space should be required to make that fact appear.

WIND AND FLOOD.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 13.—A violent wind and rain-storm passed over this city this afternoon, doing great damage. The cloud of dust raised was so dense that it was darker than night, and the water came down in torrents. At Zug's mills several furnace stacks were blown down, as were also several at Painter's, and a man was very seriously hurt. The high-school building was partially unroofed. The roof was blown from Robinson & Rea's foundry. Trees were uprooted and telegraph poles prostrated. Many dwellings were unroofed, and chimneys demolished. It was one of the severest ever known in this section, and did a great amount of damage in laying down crops in the surrounding country. At McKee's Rocks, on the Ohio river, just below Allegheny City, the storm assumed the proportions of a terrific tornado. Trees were uprooted by the roots and hurled in every direction. A man was at work picking stones with a team, when a falling tree struck his horse, injuring it so that it had to be killed. The rider was lifted by the wind and carried over piles of stones and his flesh so badly bruised and lacerated that he cannot survive. One of his arms was literally beaten to a pulp, so that amputation was found necessary. A great many other minor casualties are reported, and each train brings in fresh tidings of the damage done to standing grain. The aggregate loss outside of human injury will not fall short of a half million.

SUPREME COURT.

SALEM, July 28, 1875.

Allen Lewis, respondents, vs. J. W. Virtue et al., appellants.—Continued by stipulation until next term.

Nancy E. Goodpasture, respondent, vs. Geo. F. Campbell, appellant.—Argument by Dorris, for appellant, and cause submitted.

First National Bank of Portland, appellant, vs. A. R. Bagley, impleaded with A. R. McConnell, respondent.—Argued and submitted.

City of Corvallis, appellant, vs. Jos. Hunt, respondent.—Argued and submitted.

Chief Justice Boothby announced that, according to a recent rule, the first case in the fifth district will be heard to-morrow.

The rules makes the order of hearing of causes to be as follows: Appeals from the first district, the second, the fifth, the third and last the fourth.

The cases mapped from the first and second districts have all been heard, and the first cause from the fifth will be heard next.

No opinions rendered to-day, and court adjourned from 3:30 P. M. to 9 A. M. to-morrow.

A STORY OF SENATOR WADE. When ex-Senator Wade went to Utah three or four years ago he encountered, in crossing the desert at Salt Lake City, an old friend from Ohio who had gone West years before. "How do you like this country?" asked the bluff old commoner. "Very well," was the answer; "it would make a nice country if there was a little better society and plenty of water." "I should think so," retorted Mr. Wade; "a little better society and plenty of water would make Hell a Paradise." Colorado is ahead of Utah in both respects, for she has better society and more water, yet not enough of either.

A number of Oregon City folks are still out in the mountains prospecting.

INDEPENDENT STATE CONVENTION.

At a meeting of the Independent State Central Committee, held at Portland, July 16, 1875, it was resolved that a State Independent Convention be held at Salem on the 30th of August, 1875, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of nominating a Candidate for Member of Congress.

The basis of representation adopted is one delegate for every 100 votes cast at the last General Election for T. F. Campbell for Governor, one additional for a fraction of 50 or more, and one delegate at large for each county. Under this apportionment, the several counties are entitled to Delegates in the State Convention, as follows:

Baker	2	Lane	6
Benton	2	Linn	8
Coos	2	Marion	8
Curry	1	Multnomah	7
Columbia	2	Polk	6
Clatsop	1	Tillamook	1
Clackamas	3	Umatilla	5
Douglas	3	Union	2
Grant	3	Wasco	5
Jackson	2	Washington	6
Josephine	1	Yamhill	4
Lake	1

The Committee recommend that the people of the several counties meet either in Primaries or Mass Meetings, as they may deem best, on the 31st day of July, to select Delegates to the State Convention. JOS. BUCHTEL, Chairman.

TUESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 7, 1875.

CITY.

DEPARTMENT DRILL.—At the hour designated by the chief engineer—ten minutes past 9 o'clock—the several engines of the fire department of Portland came promptly to the places indicated yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of engaging in a general drill. All the engines arrived at the intersections indicated by the chief, and at a signal given by the big bell began simultaneously to play. Long before the engines arrived these crowds had collected along on each side of the street, in anticipation of the lively contest which was soon to follow. Most of the firemen appeared in uniform. The engines were placed at the following intersections and played the number of streams mentioned: Willamette No. 1 was stationed at the intersection of Alder and First streets, and played at intervals one and two streams. Multnomah No. 2 (both the old and new steamers), at Stark and First streets, the new steamer played alternately one, two and three streams, and the old steamer one and two streams. Columbian No. 3, at Washington and First streets, played one and two streams at intervals. Protection No. 4, at Morrison and First streets, played one and two streams alternately. Tiger No. 5 (hand engine), at Washington and First streets, played one stream. Vigilance Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1 were also out, and went through a lively drill, near the corner of Washington and First streets. The engines continued to play vigorously for over half an hour, during which time a vast quantity of water was thrown. First street being perfectly deluged. All the engines were subjected to a severe test as to which could throw the highest stream in a perpendicular direction. It was a lively and exciting contest, and was witnessed by the crowds with great interest. Between 1's and 3's the contest appeared the closest, both these steamers sending a stream much higher than any of their competitors. The "tussel" for victory was very warm, but we are inclined to think that No. 1 carried off the laurels of the day. There was very little difference between the altitude reached by the respective streams of 1 and 3, but the popular verdict gave that little difference in favor of the former engine. It was a very handsome sight to witness eight or nine streams being sent up over a hundred feet in the air, all at the same time. No one who was a spectator could repress feelings of pride which involuntarily rose at witnessing the efficiency of our fire department. We say with all candor that never has the department appeared to better advantage than yesterday, nor demonstrated more strikingly its thorough ability and willingness to save property and life. No city in the Union of equal population can boast of possessing a more magnificently equipped department than Portland. We feel a conscious pride in speaking of the department—its appearance, discipline and thorough organization,—and we think our feelings are hardly shared by every citizen of the city. After playing some time, the preconcerted signal was given, when the engines "took up," and repaired to their respective homes, and the department drill was concluded.

AN APPRENTICE.—Last evening's cotemporary contains the following little adventure which befel Gen. Sheridan: "Yesterday (Sunday) in company with his wife, brother, and brother's wife, Gen. Sheridan started in a two-horse vehicle for Vancouver, Mr. Lee Knott driving. When within about a mile of the ferry landing on this side of the Columbia, the springs of the wagon, unused to bearing up so much greatness, all gave way and the wagon bed sank down on the axles, and the general and party were forced to foot it to the ferry, while the driver returned to this city for another vehicle. The driver reached this city last evening on horseback (having taken one of the horses out of the team) about 3 o'clock, and securing a new conveyance started back for Vancouver. Gen. Sheridan and party returned to Portland about 6 o'clock last night, covered with mud and looking quite demoralized."

MR. JUDGE O. Hunnson's numerous friends will be pained to learn of the severe illness of this gentleman at his home in the Dalles. On Sunday evening a brother of Mr. Hunnson, who came down from the Dalles a few days ago on business, received a telegram stating that his presence was required there. Yesterday morning he started for the Dalles in obedience to the summons. The serious illness of Mr. Hunnson is the occasion of considerable anxiety among the members of his family and intimate friends. His health has been precarious for nearly a year past. Some months ago Mr. Hunnson visited California in hopes of regaining his wonted vigor, but his health continued quite poor, with but little prospects of ultimate recovery. Many friends will unite with us in the earnest wish that Mr. Hunnson may be speedily restored to good health.

HORSE KILLED.—A horse used in hauling a dump cart, accidentally backed off the steep embankment just south of the Clarendon hotel and was killed. A small boy was driving the animal when the accident happened. He had just brought down a load of dirt, and began to back the horse near the edge of the embankment when the animal stepped too close, and was pulled down, sustaining severe injuries from the effects of which it shortly died. The boy escaped unharmed, and no damage was done the cart or harness. The horse was a valuable one. We understand it belonged to Mr. W. H. Butts, the street contractor.

FOR RUN OVER.—Clifford Stroud, son of Mr. Geo. M. Stroud, the well-known railroad conductor, aged about 16 years, was run over on Saturday near Jefferson by a hand car, and sustained severe but not fatal injuries. He had started out to have a hunt and was riding on the car, when by some accident he lost his balance and fell off. The wheels passed over the boy's chest, throwing the car off the track. No internal injuries are sustained. Fortunately the car was not heavily loaded, and was moving slowly at the time.

SIGNALS WANTED.—"A Subscriber" asks us to publish the signals, boxes, etc., in connection with the fire alarm telegraph system. We have done so, and now refer him to the cards issued by enterprising merchants, which give the information asked for. Every person using business cards should adopt the plan of printing the information "Subscriber" is in quest of.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, September 6, 1875:

BROKE ENTRANCE.—Sometime during Sunday night the store of Judge Archibald, of Hillsboro, was entered by burglars, and the sum of seventy-six in coin abstracted. The thieves effected an entrance to the building through the rear. No clue has been obtained as to who are the perpetrators.

INSANE.—An insane man arrived here yesterday from Jackson county, in custody of Mr. Herman Helm. The unfortunate person was a young man. He seemed to be affected more with idiocy than insanity, having been "half-witted" from his birth. He was committed to the asylum.

ENTERTAINMENT.—A literary and musical entertainment will be given this (Tuesday) evening, at Museum Hall, for the benefit of Rev. A. B. Smith, pastor of A. M. E. Zion church. Refreshments will be served. Admission twenty-five cents.

NEW SAIL-BOAT.—About next Sunday, Mr. LaChapelle will launch from his boat house a new craft, which he proposes to name the Oregonian. This boat will be a traveler, and other craft may look for lively sailing when she is afloat.

FESTIVAL.—This evening, the ladies of the Baptist church will give a festival in the basement of the church, for the purpose of raising a fund to defray the expense of blinds lately placed in the church.

TRY a lunch to-day at Fabre & Barnes' Central Market. Everything in apple pie order.

A Neglected Cough, Cold or Sore Throat, which might be checked by a simple remedy, like "Brown's Bronchial Troches," if allowed to progress may terminate seriously.

PERSONAL.

Coll. VanCleve, of the Albany Register, is at present in the city.

James Gamble, Esq., general superintendent of the Western Union telegraph, is a passenger on board the steamer from San Francisco, which is due this evening.

Mr. S. B. Brastow, assistant superintendent of Wells, Fargo & Co. on this coast, is in the city. He arrived here overland from San Francisco on Sunday evening.

John F. Miller, Esq., and Mrs. Chadwick and daughter are in the city. Hon. S. F. Chadwick, who has been stopping at the Dalles some days, came down last evening.

Mr. Samuel B. Parrish, agent at Malheur reservation, arrived in the city last evening and favored us with a friendly call. Samuel looks as brown as a berry and rugged as a bear, which is another way of saying he is in a good state of preservation. He is in capital spirits, and reports everything connected with the reservation in a prosperous condition. In about ten days he will return.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The firm of Paterson & Gwynne, carpenters of this city, has been dissolved, the former continuing the business.

At 10 o'clock this morning Oscar Kilbourn will sell at auction some choice homestead property. Be on hand at his salesroom.

Messrs. Neimeyer & Utter, the well known merchant tailors, have removed to Opitz's new building, where they are making a fine display of new goods. Call and congratulate them.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

For the races at Riverside track next Saturday, C. E. Bishop has entered "Unknown," B. B. Acker enters "Epth Maynard," and J. J. Welsh will trot out "Little Mollie." The purse is a large one and lively times are anticipated.

Tom O'Brien "will receive" his friends from morn till night. Try his cigars.

Prof. McGibeny will be at his music rooms from 9 A. M. till 5 P. M., every day, where he will be glad to see his patrons and pupils.

Mr. JOS. KOHN has gone to San Francisco for the purpose of purchasing new goods for the fall and winter trade. At his new and elegant Establishment, First and Morrison streets, he makes a grand display of clothing, furnishing goods, etc. Mr. Kohn knows exactly what his customers want and he has very sensibly filled his shelves with such goods as are sure to meet with satisfaction and the prices too are figured down to suit the times. In a few days he will make new announcements.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

We paid an inspecting visit to the First Baptist Church in this city, of which the Rev. J. D. Pierce is pastor, that had been undergoing repairs for the past few weeks. On entering the building, we were agreeably surprised at the great improvement apparent at every turn. From the basement to the pinnacle of the spire, on the outside, the building has been treated to a new coat of paint, and consequently presents a bright, new and handsome appearance. A marked improvement is noticed on the interior of the church. The walls and ceilings have been kalsomined, and look as clean and fresh as if the plasterers had just completed their labor. All the woodwork of the building—the interior—has been repainted, which enhances the appearance ten fold, and renders the general air of neatness in perfect keeping with the surroundings. Another great improvement is the addition of new and elegantly finished blinds to all the windows. To the right hand of the pulpit, and nearly on the same level, a new platform has been built for the choir. Around the other edge of the platform a partition has been constructed, dividing these who compose the choir from the congregation. Surrounding the partition extends a wire, supported at intervals by small posts, to which is attached a curtain of green silk. The front side of the partition is handsomely finished, and of the same architectural style as the pulpit. Several other improvements have been added, which contribute greatly to the effect of the interior view, as well as to the comfort and convenience of the congregation and visitors. There is no neater or better finished church edifice in the city, and the popular pastor and the congregation are to be congratulated on the fact. We understand that the entire expense incurred in making the long necessary renovation was met by private contributions. We cannot omit to mention the fact that the ladies of the congregation contributed very largely to the required sum—raising, by their own united efforts, over $150. Services were held last Sabbath in the church for the first time since the repairs were made to the building.

OPENING SERVICES.

The chief object in rearing up a noble temple is to qualify it for the greatest service for mankind in nobler pursuits than attaining wealth or even mental culture. The effect of eloquence and of music is exulted by the place and is aided by the effect of the surroundings. It is what Emerson calls the "adventitious." The effect of the place contributes to the execution. The melody of music on the whole is sweeter to the listener than the musician knows.

The opening selection of music was "Thine O Lord," composed by Kent. Prof. Newell spared no pains in drilling the choir to properly render the crescendo movement—"Thine O Lord" is the greatness—and the power—and the glory—and the victory—and the majesty."

The pastor, Rev. D. J. Pierce, preached from 1 Peter, 2, iv.—vi.: "I am no temple worshiper." Better the old Baptist name of meeting house, which conveys the simple idea of a rallying center for the people of God. Paul expressly declares "that the Most High dwelleth not in temples made with hands." From the days of Christ, God's spirit shone forth through the deeds of this disciples: "Ye are the temple of God;" "if any man defile the temple of God, him will God destroy." Here then, in these living bodies, consecrated as living sacrifices to God, is his abode; hence to these hearts would I urge the importance of keeping sacred the trust laid to their charge. This house in which we gather this morning is indeed a beautiful meeting place for another body which I see before me, for greater sacredness and beauty. God's temple is a spiritual house and the church is his temple, built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone. You, my dear brethren and sisters, have refitted for our temporary use this most tasteful and commodious temple in which we may unite our prayers and efforts for the salvation of souls. And now, having placed our money, our goods and our labor on this altar upon which we propose to offer spiritual sacrifices, we are met together to present our offering to the Lord. This house is set apart to whatever purpose or effort may conduce to the upbuilding of the righteous efficiency of this church.

Mr. Pierce then spoke of the pursuits of mental culture and development for the strengthening of our soul life, and said we may safely use our meeting house for carrying them into effect. In short he said look upon these living stones set up together in this spiritual house as pre-eminently the temple of God; and whatever may be used or enjoyed in that spiritual house as such may safely be introduced into its temporal shelter. The material of which this spiritual house is composed is human hearts. How natural that the worship of all else should be cast aside, and man's chief good be considered of prime importance! Christ's peculiar acceptance lay in his being a freewill offering of the heart to God; by which we are sanctified through the suffering of the body of Jesus once for all. Brethren, be careful of this spiritual house! examine every stone, that not only the outward similitude of a palace, scriptural in its model, appear on every face polished and beautiful in its completion, but that the spirit of Christ breathe through the heart. Jesus Christ himself must be the chief corner stone of our house by which all is squared, and and plumbed and built up.

Do not think of conversion as a finality. The temple must be thoroughly refitted and refashioned and cleansed and furnished for the continual service of righteousness. Now may the thorough renovation accomplished in the outward and perishable monument to God's goodness be a fit symbol of that continuing and earnest growth attending the spiritual temple, and each grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ Jesus.

OREGON CITY ITEMS.

Our "regular" favors us with the following items from Oregon City under date of the 6th inst.:

A little son of Jennings McCarver added another to the wounded list on Saturday by getting kicked on the head by a horse in such a manner that it was at first thought he was fatally wounded, but it is said he is getting along nicely and will recover.

The fruit dryer is running night and day, curing an immense amount of fruit. The plum crop is disposed of, and they are now running on apples and pears. They are running four evaporators, and employ about 30 hands in all. Farmers are beginning to appreciate the fact that this is one of the most valuable industries in the country, and to give the gentlemen who invested their means in this establishment due credit for their effort to develop the fruit-growing possibilities of Clackamas county.

On Friday last Willie, a son of Josiah Howell, of Canemah, a lad about 13 years old, got his foot entangled in a belt in the woolen mill, where he works, and got his leg broken in two places below the knee. He attempted to throw off a belt, which had become partly unlaced, with his foot, in the manner usual in that place, when the loose end of the partly unlaced belt caught and hurled him on the floor, breaking his leg and otherwise injuring him. Drs. Ross and Parker set the limb, and the lad is getting along as well as may be with so painful a fracture.

George Harding, the irrepressible George contributed still another to the list of accidents last week. George don't often get into difficulty; in fact is inclined to be over-cautious, as his long bachelorhood conclusively shows, and as full a dozen or more of blushing damsels in this vicinity know, and sorrowfully lament that it is so; but the fates were against him this time, and permitted a first class runaway to befall him on his return from a short trip in the country. As he was coming down the steep bluff road his team heard an approaching train of cars at which they took fright, and in spite of his efforts to prevent it, turned around on the narrow incline and started back on a prospecting tour, leaving Harding behind to cogitate on the uncertainty of human calculations. The horses got entangled in a lumber pile not far up the street, and were taken in charge by Charley Canfield after some muscular persuasion on his part. Two badly mashed buggy wheels attest that Harding wasn't trying to perpetrate a joke on the livery stable keeper who owns the turnout, but let 'em go in good faith. He says the unlimited amount of friendly advice he has received on this subject during the last two days, will enable him to control most any team in future.

EXEMPT FIREMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association was held last evening at the police court room.

President Hallock in the chair; present, a quorum.

Minutes of previous meeting read and adopted.

REPORTS.

The annual report of the treasurer, W. S. Ladd, was read, and, on motion, referred for examination to the auditing committee.

The secretary submitted the following report:

PORTLAND, Sept. 6, 1875.

To the President and members of the Exempt Firemen's Association of the city of Portland—GENTLEMEN: Since the adoption of the constitution and by-laws there has been 42 names placed on the roll book of the association.

There has been collected from—

Initiation fees	$210 00
Dues	112 00
Fines	8 75
Total	$325 75

All of which will more fully appear from my account with the association, herewith presented.

There is now due the association for dues and fines, as per roll herewith, the sum of $112 25.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

SHUBRICK NORRIS, Sec'y.

The above report was referred to the auditing committee, which was subsequently appointed by the president.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers to serve for the ensuing year being next in order, the association proceeded to elect the same.

The president appointed as tellers Messrs. Fields and Phillips.

A ballot was taken for president with the following result: A. B. Hallock, 12; Blank, 2; Labbe, 1.

The ballot for vice president resulted as follows: P. D. W. Hardenburg, 10; B. F. Goodwin, 1; Jas. Strang, 1; John Catlin, 1; Blank, 2.

The vote for secretary resulted as follows: S. Norris, 11; B. F. Goodwin, 1.

W. S. Ladd was placed in nomination for treasurer and unanimously elected.

Messrs. T. A. Davis and Al. Zieber were unanimously re-elected trustees of the association.

The president appointed as auditing committee: Ed. Albright, B. Labbe, and C. C. Phillips.

Claims against the association in favor of H. T. Hudson for $10, and J. K. Gill & Co. for $2 50, were audited and ordered paid by the proper committee.

On motion the board of trustees of the association was authorized to loan out $250 which now remains in the treasury.

The president appointed the following gentlemen as members of the investigating committee: R. M. Field, H. Sinsheimer and Jas. Strang.

On motion the association adjourned.

BECK & WALDMAN have added largely to their stock of Clothing during the past week. Mr. Beck has selected many new and attractive styles and forwarded the first purchases, which are really the best to be seen in Portland. The variety of styles for youths are numerous, and no parent should fail to examine the arrivals. Take your boy and have him fitted. The firm have an immense stock for the fall and winter and offer special inducements to all.
